Neo-Georgian architecture
1880-1970 : a reappraisal

by Dr Julian Holder

The author, Dr Julian Holder of Salford University, (and former English Heritage Inspector), will give an overview of this first academic study of a much maligned and overlooked aspect of twentieth century architecture.

Copies of the book will be available for purchase on the evening.

Drinks and nibbles will be provided.

After the talk, The Old Law Library will be opened up for you to explore

The event is free to attend but places are limited so please register with lisa.mcfarlane@sevenarchitecture.co.uk
